

The future home

THE big PICTURE

The Big Picture specialises in the customised installation of audio-visual and home automation equipment.

We are one of only a few established UK companies offering a complete start to finish process...from the design and installation of the structured cabling, to the final installation and commissioning of equipment.

We've carried out many successful installations in new-build, renovated and extended properties, nationally.

Our work has received many accolades and we have been nominated for several industry awards.

Our brief was to achieve a high level of specification that would appeal to the top end of the market. We needed audio and video distribution, lighting control, computer networking, CCTV, home cinema and automation. We spent a lot of time researching and talking to several companies about what we wanted to achieve within our set budget. We were impressed with The Big Picture because they were the only company that took full responsibility for design and installation of the whole system.

The Big Picture team were a pleasure to work with and have helped us achieve superb result. I have no hesitation in recommending The Big Picture to anyone looking at any of the elements that we have had installed in our property.

Home Cinema

Home cinema can take many forms. It can be as simple as a large flat-screen, a hidden projector with a screen that appears at the touch of a button; or a dedicated home cinema room with the luxury and comfort of cinematic seating and lighting.

As trained and certified HAA* and ISF acousticians and image calibrators, you can be assured that the sound and video systems we design will produce the highest levels of performance available.

Hi-Fi & Whole House Audio

For the music enthusiast, we specialise in high-end Hi-Fi components to create the very best in sound reproduction.

With whole-house audio and video distribution you can enjoy listening to music and watching TV in any room throughout the home. Touch screen panels allow you to control volume and select a desired source, TV, Sky, Music & Radio etc. Install a music archive system and you can select music by artist, album or genre.

Speakers can also be rendered invisible for that uncluttered look.

This home cinema installation is fantastic; it has met all our original requirements and exceeded all expectations. The system is also very simple to use and to switch between the various sources and lighting themes. Overall, we are delighted with the design, installation and aftercare from The Big Picture and believe they have delivered a world-class home cinema room on a realistic budget!

Home Automation

Wall panels and touch screens can control your entertainment system, lighting, climate and door and gate entry systems. Blinds can be drawn, fires turned on and gardens sprinkled at the push of a button. For added security, the system can be set to mimic human activity when you are away from your home.

Lighting Control

A finishing touch to any living space. Lighting can be used to enhance architectural features and invoke desired moods. Sophisticated dimming controls can be installed to set the lighting in individual rooms or throughout the home.

Telephony & Data

Contact family around the home, welcome visitors at the gate and make external calls from different telephones, simultaneously. Our data networks allow for highest speeds of broadband throughout a home.

CCTV & Access Control

We can install external cameras for added security or internal cameras for added safety in a crèche or swimming pool. You can view, communicate and permit access to visitors from any telephone or touch screen in the home.

Throughout our extensive dialogue with The Big Picture, their passion to provide customer satisfaction was apparent. The options discussed for audio and visual hardware were unbiased and the advice given on room layout, lighting and ambiance was professionally considered. All work was carried out in an efficient and tidy manner, around a flexible time frame. The system we now have performs way beyond our initial expectations and we would recommend The Big Picture to anyone who has genuine aspirations of enjoying a home cinema/theatre experience.
